Forgotten Books, United States, 2015. Paperback. Book Condition: New. 229 x 152 mm. Language: English . Brand New Book  Print on Demand .Excerpt from The Passion of Our Lord; Seven Devotions: Prophecy, History and Song The reading of the Passion of our Lord during Lent and especially in Holy Week dates back to the early history of the Christian Church. The arrangement of services in liturgical form is of later date. In our Lutheran Church Dr. Ludwig Schoeberlein deserves the credit of having made use of liturgical form for the elaboration of the Passion Story. Various efforts at rendering his work into English have been made. The present effort is not such. Though some features found in Schoeberlein are adhered to, a comparison with his work will show how the compiler has endeavored to prepare a series of services which conforms entirely to that which has been adopted by The United Lutheran Church and is to be found in The Common Service Book. In the preparation of these services one fact is presumed, the knowledge and the use of The Common Service Book. With the exception of the Prophetic Verses and the Passion Collects every part is taken from The Common Service Book. The page references are always to the Music Edition. In the selection of the hymns care has been taken to have them conform as nearly as possible to the Story which is being read. It has been the aim to make each service as complete a whole as possible. As to the rendition of these services it is well to remember that it is possible to make their use elaborate and ornate, as well as simple and easy. Material is supplied for the former. But that should not deter any from using them. The hymns are...
